

When you call AT&T Long Distance to report that you are moving and indicate that you want to cancel your service instead of transferring it, they send you into an infinite loop. If you try to cancel on their website it forces you to transfer service to your new number.